

Greetings gentle readers, it be I, Mikhailla,
 here to read the stars and see what future they tell for thee.
 I be the first to admit that last year things did get a bit...heated...
 but this year seems bright and full of promise and denial!
 So join me, dear friends, as we traverse the universe together;

♍ Virgo
 August 23 – September 22

My dear sweet hardworking Virgo, it is time to put down the abacas and run round the maypole. All too soon summer turns to autumn and our planned adventures become little more than dreams ground under the grindstone of life. Our most precious commodity is the days we have on this jewel in the sky. Do not waste them. Especially do not waste them by dragging your family to odd amazingly bloody stage plays by young upstarts! What were you thinking? Did you know it was going to take five acts for Livinina to die? Is this man incapable of writing something funny? Seriously! Also go visit your friends and relatives, they miss you.

♎ Libra
 September 23 – October 22

Loving Libra, last year was hard. Things were said and opinions called into question, all those harsh words that cannot truly be erased. Of all my children you have the fiercest ability to hold on to those things said in the heat of emotion. My dear, let it go. Holding a grudge hurts you more than anyone else and does not promote harmony, something you hold dear. Let go the past, preferably without singing that song. Don't look at me like that, you know that song as well as I do...You cannot make me say it just...visit your friends and relatives, they miss you.

♏ Scorpio
 October 23 – November 21

Yes, of course you were right, as always. There is a time to work and a looming deadline and the editor of the Jester Press making those passive aggressive comments about how nice it must be to spend all my time at the cross roads hearing all the gossip and not doing my job or watching dreadful plays with Virgo...but I digress...what I wish to tell you, my sweet friend, is that there is also time to play and visit and love. Open your heart and let the sun shine in! It is time. Oh and go visit your friends and relatives, they miss you.

♐ Sagittarius
 November 22- December 21

Sweet archer, last year you did let your tongue run away with you before your brain could engage. This is no crime, but, as you well know, Libra can hold a grudge longer than it takes Lavinina to die in Titus Andronicus. And isn't that a horrible play? I really don't see that Will Shakespeare fellow having much of a future if he keeps writing plays like that. Honestly what a waste of a perfectly good cabbage...but I digress...My point be that it is time to mend fences, pour oil on the water, mix your metaphors and extend an olive branch. Make peace, go visit your friends and relatives, they miss you.

♑ Capricorn
 December 22 – January 19

Last year did not disappoint your world view, did it dear Capricorn. You did expect the worst in all and the worst is all you did see. Of course you would never act like that, being far too well bred, but Sagittarius did have a few things to say and Libra may have attempted to make peace but Cancer sure stirred the pot causing Pisces to act all martyred. In a way it all turned out exactly like you knew it would. But, my loving Capricorn, do you not miss Sagittarius's jokes, Libra's grace, Cancer's stories, and Pisces's singing? Our friends and loved ones are more than a simple opinion. They are full and real and wonderful. So what I am saying is go visit your friends and relatives, they miss you.

♒ Aquarius
 January 20 – February 18

Come out, come out gentle water barer. Even though not all of the dust has settled and the arguments still echo in your ears, it is time to dance in the sunlight and sing to the moon. Let go your fear and run wild again. Love is stronger than any other emotion and when given the chance will pave all ways and calm all storms. Listen now, and use your natural gentleness to sooth the hurts and allow the love to flourish. And yes, next time you get to pick the play. Who knew Virgo had such an odd taste in entertainment. This can be done by visiting your friends and relatives, they miss you.

♓ Pisces
 February 19 – March 20

Now is the time to play your music in the park! No, not that music, nope not that one either. The joy filled ones that celebrate love, laughter, and joy. Fill the world with your song and your art and make it a better place than what we live in now. Allow your compassion to guide you and, like the Pied Piper, you will lead the way. Wait, forget that analogy as it ended badly. Make the whole world your stage...no, not that either, things didn't end well for Titus...Instead lead the parade, don't let it pass you by. March right along with your friends and relative, they miss you.

♈ Aries
 March 21 – April 19

Raise up your head, my sweet, and stop battering at things that will not or cannot change. Instead use your considerable passion to lift up those around you. Use all of that optimistic enthusiasm to help others see a better world, yes even Capricorn. Paint will all the colors of...well, something bright and colorful, flowers maybe, as I think all the other colorful things have been copy written...my point being that you can improve the world. You can do this by visiting your friends and relatives, they miss you.

♉ Taurus
 – April 20 – May 20

Goodness did you find a way to stand your ground, my darling bull. You have planted your feet so deeply I'm surprised you have not sprouted roots. Speaking of roots, look at the beautiful flowers, the green trees. I know, they make you sneeze, but look past that to the beauty all around you. It's just as easy to see if you try. Let go of being right, let go of being stubborn for the sake of stubbornness. We are all on this small blue marble together and we love you. We are your friends and relatives and you should visit us, we miss you.

♊ Gemini
 May 21 – June 20

My sweet gentle soul hiding behind that book, come out now. Come see the sight and revel in the glory of exploration. Be a tourist in your own hometown and shake the hands of those you have not seen in a while. Look past all that has made you so nervous and come out. Each day is a brand new beginning and all you have to do is reach out to it. However, avoid the theater, two hours of all that blood and misery and I'll never be able to get you out the house again. And don't trust Virgo, I watched that whole thing and I don't think its satire. Come and visit your friends and relatives, we miss you.

♋ Cancer
 June 21 – July 22

Got your pinchers in the middle of something didn't you, Cancer. You did not expect it to go so far or feeling to get so hurt. I know this and so do your friends. Someone has to be the first to say I'm sorry. You don't need to say you were wrong, or even change your opinion, you just need to acknowledge that your love for someone is so much greater than your need to be right. Say I'm sorry I hurt you that was never my intent. We can agree to disagree and talk about something else. We will find other common ground. For Instance we all hated Titus Andronicus. We can talk about that, just not around Virgo. Also we can visit our friends and relatives, they miss us.

♌ Leo
 July 23 – August 22

You have the best and loudest laugh. It is so much more wonderful than your roar. You tell the best jokes and are the most fun to be around. Your warm-hearted generosity fills a room like Father Christmas. You are the eternal brightness of passionate love. Shine that light now as liberally as possible. Fill the world with it. Light up Aries's art, sing out Pisces's music, dance with Aquarius, and go see a play with Sagittarius. Just not Titus Andronicus, that play is dark. Instead you could visit your friends and relatives, they miss you.

Well, friends, I have come to the end of my stargazing into the beautiful summer night sky. I can hear Aquarius singing to the moon and I intend to join her. This star reading brought to you by your friends and relatives. You should go visit them. They miss you.
